Hi Tarek,

I just talked to Cory and it appears all of the end of quarter activities are complete. So I plan on giving the green light to turn on the e-mail spoofing prevention software, as soon as possible. Probably the end of today.

Instructions are ready to retrieve quarantined e-mail and Enterprise IT is ready to provide some instructions on Medinet as well.

Glenn

I assume you've discussed with Mike Capone as well?

Yes,

Discussed with him last week about the plan (turning it on as soon as end of quarter is finished), and I will get the final gate clearance from him today.

Not okay with me, unless Mike Capone is on board.

Hi Glen,

I did discuss with Mike Capone last week and he was on-board. At that time we were waiting for the end of quarter processing to complete.

I confirmed that that had happened today, and was performing my due diligence to check once again. The last stop on my gate checking was a reconfirmation from Mike, which is still pending at this moment. But we are ready to do it when he gives the final OK, -- which I fully expect.

Hope that meets your expectations. I realize that that was not apparent in the original e-mail you replied to.

OK,

I have now completed my coordination and Mike Capone provided the direction to turn it on. Since we are approaching a point in the day when Enterprise IT will be reducing to minimal manning, we all decided to perform the actual activation tomorrow morning. That way we will have the most hands on deck to handle any issues that might arise.
